30th of June 2016

Enter and View

One of Healthwatch Kingston upon Hull's key areas of work is to carry out Enter & View visits to Health & Social Care services across the City.

Enter & View is the opportunity for authorised representatives:

- To visit Health & Social care premises to hear and see how service users experience the service
- To collect the views of patients and residents at the point of service delivery
- To collect the views of carers and relatives of service users
- To observe the nature & quality of services
- To collate evidence based feedback
- To report to providers, CQC, Local Authority & NHS commissioners as well as any other relevant partners

How can Enter and View benefit you?

- Enter & View gives you the opportunity to share best practice and activities that work well as Enter & View Ambassadors report on the positive
- Enter & View gives you an opportunity to demonstrate to the CQC inspectors and commissioners that you are supporting patient engagement
- Enter & View gives service users the opportunity to give their views and opinions in order to improve service delivery

Purpose of Visit

Care home Enter & View visits were planned for June & July 2016 and it was felt that as the Avocet Trust, Ings Road respite care home had been brought to the attention of Healthwatch Kingston upon Hull through recent CQC inspections it should be included in the programme of visits.

The purpose of the visit is to speak to the residents of the home to ascertain the frequency, range and standard of recreational activities on offer.

We will also be seeking resident's opinions regarding local community and visitor involvement in recreational programmes.

Subsequent to any visit a report is prepared, factual detail agreed by the manager of the facility visited, and then shared with the HWKuH Board before distribution.

The visit was pre-arranged. We used a prepared list of questions to find out relevant facts, observed all aspects of the premises or specific areas and spoke to staff, residents and visitors as relevant.

Disclaimer: This report relates only to the service viewed on the date of the visit, and is representative of the views of the service users who contributed to the report on that date.

Introduction

93 Ings Road respite care home is in a residential area to the east of the city. The two storey converted house is owned and currently run by the Avocet Trust.

The home specialises in respite care for young adults usually presenting with a learning disability or autistic spectrum disorder, and who may also have further physical needs. The home has capacity for 5 residents and at the time of visitation accommodated 2 residents.

The home opened approximately 16 years ago and currently provides 4 bedrooms. Currently one room within the home has access to an en-suite facility, however the home has access to a further wet room, shower room and toilet for residents' independent and assisted use.

All food is prepared on site (menus attached - see Appendix 3).

Avocet trust employs 18 full and part time staff for its respite services. The home also employs further recreation, maintenance and catering staff. The home has external grounds for residents with use of a sandpit, netball area and a paddling pool for the summer. The home operates a flexible visiting hours policy (no restricted times).

Findings

We spoke initially to the Manager (Deborah Pickering) and at great length with one of the full time carers (Debra) who advised us of many of the recreational activities on offer for the residents. Whilst a great number are individually tailored, regular activities include bowling, bicycles, cinema visits and shopping. Picnics, baking days, seaside visits and going to the park are activities that are made available at short notice and almost on a daily basis if required. We were also advised that the Avocet Trust also provides larger communal events such as a hoedown, cake tasting events and 'bake offs' and the opportunity to spend time at a large mobile home based at Skipsea.

During the visit our representatives spoke at length to two members of staff, as service users may experience difficulty in communicating their answers to us. Two staff and one resident completed our recreation and community questionnaires. The staff that completed our questionnaires were very aware of the vast range of recreational activities on offer within the Avocet Trust and subsequently at Ings Road. However, due to the nature of the individual challenges that residents face, some residents may not regularly take part in activities, preferring individual pursuits and enhanced one to one activities which may include shopping, walking and sensory therapy.

Both members of staff when discussing recreation & the community spoke of the wide variety of external trips available and the care taken in delivering them, this was re-iterated by the resident who stated he 'liked to go away in the car'. All discussed how regular external visits would include going to the shops, to the seaside, to the local park or as the resident expressed, 'bowling'. However, further external activities that had been undertaken and had been planned included the East Park café, excursions to the Humber Bridge & Country park, the military vehicles exhibition and the East Park fair. Whilst respite care is often temporary, all residents have access to a large, trust provided mobile home based at Skipsea and, where applicable, all residents can be provided a weekly holiday every year. We were informed that the home has access to a minibus thus external trip and visits were significantly easier to achieve. The resident who we spoke to expressed how much they had enjoyed external visits.

Of the staff spoken to, all expressed the challenges faced with engaging and feeling connected to the local community, in particular due to the complexities of the service user's needs and given residents were often temporary in nature. The staff commented that the local area was still a nice area and external visits into the community would include walks, going to the nearby East park or shopping, with wider visits including picnics, swimming or the seaside. During our visit we observed two residents. Whilst one resident was watching films and playing games inside, the second resident was just returning from an excursion.

During our time spent at Avocet trust Ings Road, we divided our time between a large communal area and also a smaller unoccupied bedroom above the communal area during our visit.

Conclusions

After discussions with both staff and a resident, we concluded it is apparent not all respite residents due to the complex nature of their needs, may be fully aware of the range and diversity of all the daily, weekly and further activities provided. Our respondents expressed the range and care taken to provide routine activities, external activities and further person centred activities to allow residents to undertake individual pursuits when required. Most residents currently benefit from a wealth of opportunities that take them away from the home or to attend community events. After discussions with staff and management we were informed of the use of a minibus that makes external activities much simpler to plan and execute.

The Avocet Trust employs 18 dedicated staff to undertake its respite division, with a mix of full time and part time dedicated support staff who undertake all activities over a shared week period. Whilst monthly activity plans are agreed in principle, activities are often shared and fluid based entirely on individual resident's requirements as activity is very person centred led. After further discussions with both staff and residents, there is understandably limited community involvement around recreation and activities, mostly in part to the transient nature of the respite clients.

Recommendations

Further to our visit the following recommendations are made:

- To encourage more visitors and the local community to participate in and provide recreational activities.
- A more robust activities board be on display giving visitors and residents an indication of upcoming or available activities.
- To continue with the exemplary array of person centred and group activities for residents
